Welcome

Welcome to our new look monthly newsletter – specifically aimed at you the registrants. We have been engaging with many of you over the last few months, having attended your conferences and met with your professional bodies. We are committed to continue to listen and respond to your views. We want these newsletters will provide you with news, updates and information. We welcome your input and if you have ideas for future content, please do let us know.

Transforming the GCC

The GCC is changing. We have been listening to your views and to policy that is shaping regulation to develop a new long-term strategy for the organisation. Thank you to everyone who has spoken to us, shared your experience, or given us ideas and suggestions. Read about the themes you told us about and how we intend to respond by changing our approach. We are intentionally setting out to be more proactive, in engage with you more often, and listen. The changes we are making will help us ensure that when you interact with the GCC in the future, your experience of our services will be better. By changing the way we operate, we will be able to close our dustbin as a regulator more effectively. By improving people's experience of the GCC, and by working together with you, we will support the development of the profession and maintain public confidence in the profession. Together, all of this work helps protect patients.

New Chief Executive and Registrar

We are delighted that Nick Jones has been appointed as the new permanent Chief Executive and Registrar. Nick joins us from the Human Embryo and Fertilisation Authority. He has significant experience in healthcare regulation and a strong commitment to professional standards and patient care. Nick starts on 18 February and will continue the transformation work the GCC carried out during 2018. Tricia McGregor, who is semi-retired, was appointed as interim CEO to begin the important process of changing the GCC and she will be handing on the baton on to Nick. You’ll hear more from Nick about his plans to continue the transformation programme in next month’s newsletter.

Have your say on the newsletter

You told us that you would like us to engage with you more. One first step is to improve the quality and design of this newsletter.
